
New Website

ORCA,

After many hours messing around, I have managed to have some success with the new site using a combination of Word, Coffee Cup and Filezilla.

Check out my efforts so far @

I think I know how to create multiple pages and as you can see, have worked out email forwarding, video, images, and google maps.

This should be good enough for what we need and without the headache of Joomla.

However, have you got any advise on Google posting?. I have added the url (usual 8 weeks wait to find out).
