Morning chaps...

After i've been playing for about an hour, it kicks me out and says "key code in use"..... Does this mean that somehow, someone is using my game key code???

Any suggestions would be great.... :)

Have you tried rebooting your router. You had a problem before (if i remember rightly) and rebooting your router fixed your problem...

:typing: Hope this helps ???

Pootle,

If you router loses connection, the game doesn't disconnect from the master server correctly and the master server holds the last know IP (from your router) as active. Therefore turning off the router, the master server loses contact with your IP and prepares for you to reconnect again. It's the only fix for this problem. We all have it from time to time.
